Registered charity in England and Wales No. 1137522

Information about the Burgon Society can be found on its website at www.burgon.org.uk

Transactions of the Burgon Society
Volume 11 (for 2011)

Edited by Stephen L. Wolgast
Editorial Board: Bruce Christianson, William Gibson, Nicholas Groves, John Horton, Alex Kerr

Published by the Burgon Society
© 2012 The Contributors

ISBN 978-0-9561272-7-3

Opinions expressed in this journal are those of the contributors and are not necessarily those of the Burgon Society. Neither the Editors nor the Burgon Society can vouch for the accuracy of material in the journal or accept legal responsibility or liability for any errors or omissions that may be made.

Front cover: The hoods of the University of Malta. Nicholas Groves, a fellow of the Society, won the university’s contest to design new academic dress for its graduates. Dr Groves created the chart of hoods and their colours, and tells the story of his commission beginning on page 91. A key to the hoods appears on pages 98 and 99.
Burgon Society Officers
Burgon Society Events in 2011
Editor's Note
About the Authors

Primary Source: Kerstin Fröberg
Through the Needle’s Eye; or, How I Became a Robemaker

Michael H. L. Brewer
Academic Dress in Canterbury

Richard Baker
The Academic Dress of the University of Hull From 1954 to the Present Day, Including the Hull-York Medical School from 2003

Clifford Dunkley
Academic Dress of the University of Leicester

Stephen L. Wolgast
The Demise of ‘Faculty’ Meanings in U.S. Hoods and a Manifesto for Change

Nicholas Groves
Revisions to the Academic Dress of the University of Malta (L-Università ta’ Malta)

Les Robarts
The Vice-Chancellor’s Ad Hoc Committee: The University of West Bromwich Considers the Place of Academic Dress In a Contemporary University

Burgon Society Fellows & Members
Burgon Society Shop
The Burgon Society
Officers
(as at 1 August 2012)

Patrons
The Rt Revd and Rt Hon. Richard J. C. Chartres, KCVO, MA (Cantab), BD (Lambeth),
DLitt (Guildhall), DD (London), DD (City), DD (Brunel), FSA, FBS
The Rt Revd Graeme Knowles, CVO, AKC, FBS
Professor Graham Zellick, CBE, QC, MA, PhD (Cantab), Hon LLD (Birm. & Amer. Int.
Univ.), LHD (New York), DLit (QMUL), AcSS, Hon FRAM, Hon FSALS, FBS

President
James P. S. Thomson, MS (London), DM (Lambeth), FRCS, FBS

Trustees/Council of Management
Chairman: Colin Fleming, BA (Stirling), MA (London), CA (Bermuda and Canada), FBS
Secretary and Registrar: Thorsten E. Hauler, Dipl.-Phys. (Heidelberg), Dr. rer. nat.
(TU München), MInstP, FBS
Treasurer: Ian Johnson, BA (CNAA), AIL, MInstD, FRSA, FBS
Ordinary Members of Council
Professor Bruce Christianson, MSc (Victoria NZ), DPhil (Oxon), FNZMS, FBS (Dean of Studies)
Professor Noel Cox, LLM, MTheol, PhD (Auckland), MA (Lambeth), LTh (Wales),
FRHistS, FBS
The Revd Kenneth Crawford, MA, MEd (Columbia), BD, BMus (Melbourne), FBS
(Communications Officer)
Peter J. Durant, BA (Exeter), MSc (Greenwich), FBS (Webmaster)
Professor William Gibson, MA (Wales), PhD (Middlesex), DLitt (Wales), FRHistS, FRSA, FBS
Nicholas W. Groves, MA, BMus, PhD (Wales), MA (East Anglia), BA (London),
FRHistS, FBS
John C. Horton, BSc (Manchester), PhD (Cantab), MInstP, FBS (Marshal)
Nicholas Jackson, BA (York), MSc, PhD (Warwick), FBS
Alex Kerr, MA (Oxon), MA, PhD (Reading), MISTC, FBS
Stephen L. Wolgast, BA (Kansas State), MS (Columbia), FBS (Publications Editor)
Burgon Society Events in 2011

7 May  Spring Conference

Offices of Deloitte 2 New Street Square, London

Programme included:

Illustrated talks

- Charles Rupert Tsua — Gimp, Lace, and Braid: The Trimming of Academic Gowns
- Alex Kerr — The Turbulent History of Undergraduate Academic Dress
- Nicholas Groves — With Velvet Facings: More on the Original London Scheme
- Colin Fleming — New Acquisitions in the Archive
- Kenneth Crawford — Some Recent Commissions for Academic Robes

16 July  Academic Dress on Monuments in Oxford

A walking tour led by Alex Kerr visiting some of the college chapels and city churches that possess brasses and sculptural monuments illustrating academic dress. The itinerary included St John’s College, New College, All Souls College, the University Church of St Mary the Virgin, and St Michael’s Church.

8 October  AGM and Congregation

Charterhouse London

Annual General Meeting

- Display of academic robes from the Burgon Society Archive
- Installation of Dr James Thomson as President of the Society
- Admission to the Fellowship of the Burgon Society

Nicholas Hoffmann (by submission — Crow’s Feet in Cambridge: The Academic Dress of America’s Oldest University) in absentia

Br. Oliver Keenan (by submission — How Can Academical Dress Survive in the Third Millennium?) in absentia

Dr Alan Ross (by submission — Togas gradui et facultati competentes: The Creation of New Doctoral Robes at Oxford 1895–1920)

Kathryn Douglas (by submission — Drawings for the Third Edition of ‘Shaw’s Academical Dress’)

Charles Tsua (by submission — A Study of the History and Use of Lace on Academical Gowns in the United Kingdom)

Short talk

Nicholas Groves — An account of new prize-winning robes for the University of Malta designed by Dr Groves
Editor’s Note

Writing this as the editor of the Transactions is an honour. Not only because I’m still fairly new to the Society, but also because I’m new to the subject. And being an American, I am still discovering that the history of cap and gown, as it’s called where I live, is far deeper and broader than I ever expected.

Perhaps because academic dress has a short history in the United States I have a great interest in how it is used today. As a way to view its perceptions by those who don’t share our passion, I am adding a feature to the Transactions. Primary Source is an essay that will bring to life a brief account of academic dress as it is meets the world beyond the one in which we admire and seek to understand it. Kerstin Fröberg writes a lively and humourous inaugural piece, an ideal place to start.

You have probably noticed another change by now, one to the typeface. I hope you will find it easy on your eyes. It’s called Miller, and was designed by Matthew Carter for legibility at small sizes. Fittingly, Carter has a professional connection to the academy. Another of his fonts is called Yale, which he created for the university based on a fifteenth-century Venetian typeface.

The real reason you are reading is not for the design but for the articles. As you turn the pages you’ll find the story of Hull’s academic dress, one that begins with Charles Franklin and includes his inimitable writing. We even find out his favourite hotel room when visiting Hull. Keep reading to learn the stories of Canterbury, Leicester and the steps by which one of our Fellows won a competition to design gowns for the University of Malta.

There’s a housekeeping note, too. To tidy up footnotes, the Transactions of the Burgon Society is now cited as TBS.

Once you set down the journal you may notice something else: a special issue published at the same time as the one in your hands. Les Robarts’ dissertation takes the form of a play that explores the meanings of academic dress in the modern world. In it he invents a university and creates a meeting of its instructors to decide if robes are still relevant. As the author, he takes all sides on the question in a post-modern analysis of our ancient fascination.

The work you’re about to read had the assistance of the editorial board, whose hours of re-reading, proofing and liaising with authors simplified my life in portions equal to the complications added to theirs. The editors’ behind-the-scenes guidance is an invisible presence on every page. I owe particular thanks to my predecessors, Nick Groves and Alex Kerr, who answered my questions on topics from medieval history to modern British idiom.

While the editors ensure the articles are readable and scholarly, it’s the authors themselves who have done the most important work. Please enjoy their discoveries and insights and share your reactions with anyone on the Council.

Stephen Wolgast
Authors

Richard Baker, BA (Open), MA (East Anglia), PhD (Hull), FLCM, ACP, FBS, is now retired after a career as the director of music in a high school. At various times he has been a church organist and choirmaster and the director of a youth orchestra. His interest in academic dress started as a chorister, and progressed whilst at grammar school. He could not resist the opportunity to acquire one ‘of the most beautiful and dignified hoods in the world’—and then to submit a dissertation for the FBS based upon them.

Michael H. L. Brewer, MA (University of Kent), LTCL, DipTESOL, DipTEFL, FBlELT, FBS, is a Sessional Lecturer in the Faculties of Arts & Humanities and Business & IT, following many years’ service to The King’s School, Canterbury, teaching Music, English and History in the junior department. His research interest is in Phonology.

Clifford Dunkley, MA (Oxon.), FBS, was a member of the administrative staff at Leicester University from 1967 to 1999, latterly as Senior Assistant Registrar. Among other duties, he was responsible for the organisation of degree ceremonies both at Leicester and what is now the University of Northampton. In the later stages of his career, he was involved in the design of academic dress for emerging new degrees.

Nicholas Groves, MA, BMus, PhD(Wales), MA(E Ang), BA(Lond), FRHistS, FBS, is a foundation Fellow and Trustee of the Society, and editor-in-chief of the third edition of Shaw’s Academical Dress of Great Britain and Ireland. His particular interests in academic dress are the nineteenth century in England and Wales, and theological college hoods.

Leslie M. M. Robarts, BA, MPhil (Open), MEd (Exeter), PhD (Birmingham), CertEd (Nottingham), ACP, DipASE, honMCollT, FCMI, FBS, is a retired high school headmaster. At the Open University he read literature and music, and he earned research degrees from the Open University and Birmingham University focussing on verbal and bibliographical aspects of words to three of Handel’s oratorios.

Stephen L. Wolgast, BA (Kansas State), MS (Columbia), FBS, is assistant professor of journalism and digital media at Kansas State University and is the director of the Collegian Media Group. He was co-editor of Volume 9 of the Transactions and was named editor in 2012, making this the first volume he has overseen.